

CLAIMS

1. Use of Component B in combination with a human growth factor for the preparation of a composition for promoting angiogenesis.
- 5 2. The use according to Claim 1 in the treatment of wounds, ulcers and other traumatic lesions to any of the tissues in the body.
3. Pharmaceutical composition useful as cicatrizers comprising Component B and a human growth factor as active principles in combination with a pharmaceutically acceptable carrier.
- 10 4. Pharmaceutical composition according to Claim 3 wherein the two active principle are both present in a single administration dose.
- 5 5. Pharmaceutical composition according to Claim 3 wherein the two active principle are present each in a separated administration dose.
6. Pharmaceutical composition according to Claims 3 - 5 wherein the human growth factor is bFGF or VEGF.
- 15 7. Method of treatment of wounds, ulcers and other traumatic lesions to any of the tissues in the body comprising administering in a single administration dose an effective amount of Component B and an effective amount of a human growth factor.
- 20 8. Method according to Claim 7 wherein the two active principles are administered in separated administration dose.
9. Method according to Claims 8 and 9 wherein the human growth factor is bFGF or VEGF.